

SUPPORTACT

The heart & hand of Australian music

Live Nation Australia is a long-term, committed partner of Support Act, who deliver invaluable resources to musicians, managers, crew, and music workers through crisis relief, mental health and wellbeing programs such as the Support Act Wellbeing Helpline, Mentally Healthy Workplaces Program, and dedicated First Nations support.

The Australian music industry employs over 90,000 Australians and supports countless other jobs. Research shows that these workers experience psychological distress at nearly four times the rate of the general public, with almost a fifth living below the poverty line. Support Act serves as a safety net for these Australians.
